

A Thanksgiving Message
From Mayor John Gunter

As we come together to celebrate the spirit of Thanksgiving, I am profoundly grateful for the strength that defines our remarkable community. It is a privilege to serve as your mayor and witness the collective efforts that make Cape Coral a place we proudly call home.

This Thanksgiving, let us not only express gratitude for the abundance of blessings we enjoy but also extend a heartfelt welcome to friends and family joining us in this season of togetherness. Our community thrives on the bonds we share, and as we open our doors to those near and dear, let them experience the genuine hospitality that defines Cape Coral.

May this season be a time of reflection on the values that bind us—compassion, unity, and resilience. Together, we have weathered challenges, and celebrated triumphs that enrich the vibrant fabric of our city.

As we gather with loved ones around the Thanksgiving table, may we remember the importance of gratitude, humility, and kindness. Let us extend a helping hand to those in need and share the warmth of the season with neighbors and friends.

Wishing you and your loved ones a Thanksgiving filled with joy, laughter, and the company of cherished friends and family. May this holiday be a time of reflection, appreciation, and the creation of happy memories.

Thank you for making Cape Coral the incredible community it is. Happy Thanksgiving!

With warm regards,

John Gunter
Mayor of Cape Coral
