What is important to know before I bring my dog?

Canine Behavior/Communication

- Don't overreact to normal behavior. Being overprotective makes your dog nervous and aggressive. If you've never been to a dog park, familiarize yourself with canine play before visiting the park. There are dogs that like a rough and tumble style with lots of growling, grabbing, wrestling and tackling. Some dogs are daintier with bowing and chasing but not much physical contact. Some dogs like to herd other dogs and may bark and nip at others.
- Understand canine communication. Dogs that enjoy rough and tumble play may growl and snap as part of that play. Dogs may also snap to "set their limits" with other dogs, to let the other dog know they are being too rough or pushy. Dogs have various ways by which they communicate their dominance to other dogs. This may include a stiff-legged posture with the head held up and back; raising the hackles on the back; raising the tail; or laying the head across another dog's shoulders or back.
- Be sensitive to the other dogs with whom your dog is playing. Watch your dog carefully and be prepared to intervene if the interaction seems to be going down the wrong road.
- If your dog seems to be pestering or annoying another dog, divert his/her attention immediately. This means you should move to another part of the park or leave.
- A first time dog-park visit can be stressful for canines and humans, consider visiting the park at non-peak times. (Peak times are usually Monday through Friday from late afternoon until dark and on weekends & holidays)
- Don't be discouraged if your dog doesn't jump right in and begin playing. It may take a couple of tries, or even a few weeks of visits, before your dog comes out of his/her shell. Be patient & understanding, please.
- If your dog becomes fearful or anxious, don't force him/her to stay.

Prevent Problems – Be Alert

The best way to avoid a fight is not to allow it to happen in the first place. Know your dog; monitor situations carefully and be prepared to intervene before naughty behavior escalates into a full-fledged fight.

Do not bring dogs with aggressive tendencies to the park. You are risking harm and creating a potential liability for yourself.

If a dog fight occurs, owners are responsible for breaking it up. Both owners must get control of their dogs at once. If one owner gets control of his or her dog but the other owner does not; it creates a very dangerous situation for the first dog and owner.

The safest way to break up a fight is to pull the dogs apart from behind. Grab the tail or the hind legs. Do not grab the collar or put your hands near the dogs head. Both owners should grab their dogs and pull them away from each other at the same time. Each dog should then be leashed and removed from the park.

Other owners should get hold of their own dogs, and divert their attentions elsewhere. The sight of a fight breaking out sometimes incites other dogs to get involved.

If your dog inflicts an injury, you must report it to animal control before leaving the park (see the other side)

Children in The Dog Park

- The dog park is NOT a petting zoo. The dog park is a place for people to enjoy their dogs. Babies & toddlers are not permitted in the dog park. If you choose to bring a child over the age of 5 to the dog park, you must supervise your child. Keep children under control & close by, you are responsible for your child's safety.
- Most dogs are curious and friendly; not all dogs are child friendly. Dogs may feel threatened if a child runs toward them, yells or grabs at them.
- Dogs often run fast and play vigorously and they may inadvertently knock down and hurt a child.
- If you choose to bring your child to the dog park, please make sure your child follows these rules:
 - Does not wave arms wildly, run, scream, chase or tease the dogs.
 - Does not pet any dog without asking permission from the owner first.

Teach your children how to react in an emergency situation:

- Do not run! Hide face with arms and stand still 'like a tree' or lie down "like a log" with arms and legs tucked into the body. Wait until an adult arrives to help or the dog leaves.
- Your main responsibility is to monitor your dog(s) and to be prepared to intervene if there is any sign of trouble. Before bringing children to the park, consider whether you can effectively supervise both the dog and the children at the same time. Consider taking your children down to the Liam J. Perk playground on the east side of the park, but keep your dogs out of the playground.
